

ITALO-ETHIOPIAN WAR SETTLING TO ENDURANCE TEST

Italian Invaders Make Slow Progress Over Ethiopian Terrain

SOME ARE DRIVEN BACK

Virtually Entire World Moves
To Punish Italy With Economic Siege

By International News Service
The Italo-Ethiopian war began to settle down today into a test of endurance, with Ethiopia preparing for a long and bitter defense of her territory, the Italian invaders making only slow and difficult progress over the Ethiopian terrain and virtually the entire world moving to punish Italy with an economic siege which needs time for effectiveness.

An Italian force which tried to invade Ethiopia near Kenya, was reported driven back by an Ethiopian army which captured 300 Fascist prisoners.

London heard that Italian bombing planes had bombed and seriously damaged the town of Magalo. They were between the Ethiopian capital and the southern front, while Rome announced continued Ethiopian desecration on both northern and southern fronts.

H. R. Knickerbocker cabled from Addis Ababa that Emperor Haile Selassie was preparing for a prolonged and bloody devastating conflict, aware the time for his determined defense is near.

Italian forces continued their advance on Magalo, the important northern city, but it was a question whether the long deferred Ethiopian defense would be made there. The Italians planned a counter move to the sanctions, it was reported, with orders to boycott nations boycotting her, and the International News Service correspondent at Alexandria revealed Egypt, finding themselves under British control, might prove to be a definite leak in the League economic siege on Italy. Britain announced secret negotiations for anti-Fascist, anti-Nazi alliance with France against Italy and Germany.

DJIBOUTI, French Somaliland, Oct.
29—Driving back the Italian forces that tried to invade Ethiopia near the British colony of Kenya, Ethiopian warriors took 300 prisoners, according to reports reaching here from the southern front. The Italians prepared to cross the Dawa River west of the town of Dolo late weeks ago by the Fascist troops, but were forced to retreat in a brisk engagement.

Elsewhere along the line stretching all the way across the southern part of Ethiopia the Italians have advanced without any important engagement, the report indicated.

Crushed to Death in Auto

Pottstown, Oct. 29—A man tentatively identified as John M. Bernhart, Ridley Park, was crushed to death behind the steering wheel of his automobile early today in a collision with a coal truck, four miles west of here. Clayton Starr, 23, Pottstown, driver of the truck, was held under $1000 bail on a technical charge of involuntary manslaughter.

Five Film Stars Ill

Hollywood, Cal., Oct. 29—Five luminaries of the film world were in hospitals, today, two gravely ill. At the point of death were Mae Marsh and Gordon Westcott. Adolph Menjou, although seriously ill, was slightly improved; Vera Teasdale, Menjou's better wife, was reported somewhat better, while Buster Keaton is slowly recovering from his serious illness. Miss Marsh, star of countless films of the silent days, is battling against death from complications following an appendicitis operation. Westcott, screen and stage heavy, was "in immediate danger" from injuries suffered when he was trampled by his horse in a polo game Sunday. A recurrence of a stomach ailment necessitated a blood transfusion for Menjou. Miss Teasdale, suffering from colitis, was slightly improved. Keaton was reported well on the road to recovery after suffering a nervous breakdown ten days ago.

Routed By Explosion

Philadelphia, Oct. 29—Awakened by an explosion in a refrigerator, 26 members of the Sigma Alpha Epsilon Fraternity, including two players on the Penn football team, fled to the bon monoxide fumes filled the residence. The explosion blew off the top of the refrigerator, scattered china and silverware about the pantry.

DEATH OCCURS HERE FOR MRS. F. MAGNUS KOHLER

Seriously Ill for One Week,
But Had Been In Ill
Health for Years

FUNERAL ON THURSDAY

An aged resident of the sixth ward,
Mrs. Theresa Kohler, died at her home last evening, after a period of ill health covering several years. For one week before her death her condition had been considered serious.

The late Mrs. Kohler was the widow of F. Magnus Kohler. Three daughters and three sons survive, these including: Mrs. Joseph Brady, Philadelphia; Mrs. George Shire, Jr., and Miss Fannie Kohler, Bristol; C. Harry Kohler, Elizabeth, N. J.; Theodore R. of Morrisville; and Joseph, of Bristol. The late Mrs. Kohler and her daughter, Miss Fannie Kohler, had resided at 1624 Trenton avenue.

Born in Philadelphia, Mrs. Kohler and her family moved to Bristol in 1904.
The funeral service will be conducted Thursday at two p. m., from the Kohler residence, with the Rev. George E. Boswell, rector of St. James's P. E.
Church, officiating. Burial will be made in North Cedar Hill Cemetery, Philadelphia, under direction of the H. S. Rue Estate. Friends may call
Wednesday evening.

REPUBLICAN LEADERSHIP DECLARED BOON TO SELLERSVILLE BOROUGH

Municipality Has Thrived Since Voters Took Reins From Democrats, Its Citizens Assert — Finances
Are In the Black

SELLERSVILLE, Oct. 29—Through vision leavened with sound common sense in government, Sellersville under Republican guidance of this thriving borough's public affairs, succeeds this year in completing a $66,500 water filtration plant and to date has a surplus of approximately $4,000 over its budget estimates as compared with this time last year. C. R. Witmer, former Burgess and now Borough Clerk, said yesterday that under Republican rule despite occurrence at times of many knotty fiscal problems, the finances of the borough have been kept in the black and a $25,000 sinking fund has been established.
Until about ten years ago Sellers-ville was under the control of the

MARKET BASKET CLUBS FORMED AS PROTEST

Say Movement Will Be Started Here To Bring
Prices Down

BEGAN IN PHILADELPHIA

HARRISBURG, Oct. 29—"Market Basket" Clubs will be organized in Bucks county in protest against the high cost of living.

"A movement which began in Philadelphia has assumed state-wide proportions," Mrs. Edna R. Carroll, prominent Philadelphia civic club worker, declared here today, "and 'Market Basket' Clubs will be organized in every county of Pennsylvania."

"Market Basket" Clubs are what their name implies—clubs which aim to focus the attention of housewives on the cost of food. The first club was formed in Philadelphia only a few weeks ago. Today more than 100,000 women are enrolled in the movement to bring down the cost of food.

M. Harvey Taylor, Republican State Chairman, blamed rising prices of food directly on the Roosevelt administration when he pointed out that the cost of food has soared 136 per cent above the price of two years ago.

"Pork is up 92 per cent, ham 61 per cent and round steak 57 per cent over the prices which housewives paid for the same articles of food two years ago," Chairman Taylor said.

"Meat strikes have followed in the wake of these rising prices in several parts of the state," he added, "and the recent increase in the cost of a loaf of bread must be blamed largely on the Agricultural Adjustment Act of the Roosevelt administration."

It was also pointed out in Harrisburg today that the New Deal has collected $37,000,000 from processing taxes in this state alone. To this sum must be added at least another $50-600,000 collected at the source in other states upon products consumed in Pennsylvania.

"All of these taxes are ultimately paid by the consumer," Chairman Taylor concluded, "and less than 10 cents of every dollar collected in the state has come back to the farmers of Pennsylvania."

"During last year's campaign Governor Earle was quoted as saying that if elected he would become a member of the Milk Control Board, and would see to it that the price of milk was lowered to the consumer and raised a cent a quart to the farmer," he continued. "None of these pledges has been kept, and now comes the report that the only general order which the Earle controlled Milk Board has formulated in all the months it has been drawing down its big salaries, is to be held up until after election. Farmers and consumers are both asking, why?"

OLD FASHIONED HARVEST HOME

An old-fashioned harvest home will be celebrated at the Bensalem A. M.
E. Church, Bridgewater Road, tomorrow evening, October 30. The speaker of the evening will be the Rev. H. T.
Jones of the Mother of Bethel Church of Philadelphia. A program also will be rendered. Music will be rendered by the choir of the A. M. E. Church of Bristol. J. L. Mims, pastor; Mrs. Hill, chairlady.

TENDERED SURPRISE PARTY

friends gathered and the evening was spent in dancing. Refreshments were served.

ON THE JOB

(By "The Stroller")
Robert Chase, of Washington street, Morrisville, one of the active members of Union Fire Company, Morrisville, came home from work the other evening and before changing his clothes he decided to lie down on the couch for a little while to rest. His wife sat in the next room listening to the radio.
Suddenly Mr. Chase jumped up, grabbed his hat and coat and ran to the Union Fire House which is about two blocks from his home. He thought he heard the fire siren but when he arrived at the fire house he found everything quiet. Returning home he told his wife he thought he heard the fire siren and she informed him that Ed Wynn had just come on the air and it was the siren announcing this radio star that he heard.

Merry Time Had When Hallowe'en Party Occurs

TULLYTOWN, Oct. 29—The girls' choir of the Methodist Church held a Hallowe'en party in the church social room, Friday evening. Each member of the choir invited a friend.

The room was fittingly decorated for the occasion, and the members and guests were masked. Prizes for costumes were awarded to Betty Bachofer, who as a bride, was prettiest; and to Clara Lavenberg, funniest.

The evening was spent in playing games and ducking for apples. Refreshments were served.

Those present: Ruth Bachofer, Betty Bachofer, Jean Burton, Doris Nelson,
Edith Nichols, Laura Bachofer, Gloria Swangler, Clara Lavenberg, Irene Up-
dike, Ada Giberson, Julia Spangler, Eleanor Wright, Sonia Johnson, Christine Johnson, Kathleen Griggs, Helen Schaffer, Viola Schaffer, Virginia
Bachofer, Mary Zucker, Thelma Stake. Those in charge were Rev. and Mrs. W. H. A. Williams, Elwood Carlen and Francis Clay.

WANT TWO COMPANIES TO SHARE DAMAGE COSTS

Ask That Railroad and Canal Companies Assume Burden
For Bridge Removal

AT MORRISVILLE

MORRISVILLE, Oct. 29—Following a hearing before the Public Service Commission of Pennsylvania an effort is being made to have the Lehigh Canal Company and the Pennsylvania Railroad Company agree to assume their share of the property damages and other costs necessary for the removal of the canal bridge on West Bridge street.

The State Highway Department has agreed to increase their offer to $20,000 toward the cost of the project. The County Commissioners are willing to pay $11,504 or the cost of the bridge.
The cost of the sidewalks and property damage will be divided between the borough and the canal and railroad company and it is reported that should the two corporations be willing to assume what the borough officials believe their just share, work on the project could soon be gotten under way.

The matter of costs is now being considered by officials of the two corporations and another meeting is planned for the near future.

The plans as approved tentatively call for the leaving of the railroad spur in the bed of the canal but this is to be lowered. This will permit the lowering of the bridge about seven feet and while there will be a hill there the grade will be gradual from the corner of Pennsylvania avenue.
This will cause a change of grade and will result in property damages. It is said that the roadway will be about two feet higher than the present sidewalk in front of the Wildman property. Either a retaining wall will be built or the fill will be allowed to spill over.

The improvement will also call for the widening of the highway to a 36 foot roadway. This will result in the taking of property on both sides of the street. Some of the buildings will have to be moved while others will have a part of the front torn away and new fronts built.

REPUBLICAN CANDIDATE For Re-Election To BOROUGH COUNCIL

John H. Wichser, an energetic young businessman and a native of Bristol is seeking re-election to Bristol Borough Council as the Republican candidate from the second ward.

Mr. Wichser became a councilman in 1930 when he was named to succeed the late Harry H. Headley. He has continued to represent the second ward in council since that time and has ably looked after the affairs of his constituents.

He was born in Bristol May 18, 1889,
and is the son of Casper and Anna Wichser, both now deceased. He received his early education in Bristol and Philadelphia and went to learn his trade as tinsmith, when he was 13 years of age. He served as apprentice to various tinsmiths and then entered business for himself.

On February 2, 1910, Mr. Wichser married Anna E. McCoy, and he and his family reside at 309 Dorrance street.

In addition to being much interested in borough affairs Mr. Wichser takes an active part in fraternal matters. He is a member of Bucks Lodge, Loyal Order of Moose, and is an enthusiastic bowler, being the captain and manager of the Bristol Inter-State Elks Bowling Club. He is the father of four children, Mrs. George Smith, William G., Phyllis M., and John H., Jr.

In the primary election the Republican voters of the second ward put their stamp of approval upon his early years of service by nominating him for another term, and he is thus a candidate for re-election on the Republican ticket in the election on Tuesday, November 5th.

CADETS WILL PARADE BEFORE POLITICAL RALLY

Four-Time State Champions
To Give Street Demonstration Here

MEETING IN THE GRAND

Tomorrow night, previous to the old-fashioned political rally to be held by Republicans in the Grand Theatre, the American Legion Cadets will parade through the streets of Bristol.

The cadets, four-time state champions, are the pride of Bristol, and beginning at 6:30 tomorrow night they will leave from in front of the home of Robert W. Bracken Post, No.
382, American Legion, on Radcliffe street, for a street parade.

The following is the route which has been announced:

Leaving the Legion Home the cadets will march up Radcliffe street, to Jefferson avenue, to Pond street, to Farragut avenue, turning off Farragut avenue, the parade will proceed onto Jackson street to Wilson avenue, thence over Wilson avenue to Pond street, to Dorrance, Radcliffe, Mill, Otter, Linden, Mifflin, Buckley to Beaver street. On Beaver street the parade will counter march and proceed back to Bath street and thence to the Grand Theatre.

The public is invited to attend the meeting to be held in the Grand Theatre, which will begin at eight o'clock.
Not only the public of Bristol but from the surrounding area, as well, is invited. There will be music at the Grand Theatre during the time that the audience is assembling.

The three speakers of the meeting are to be Howard I. James, Esquire, the well-known attorney; Mark Thatcher, solicitor of Bucks County, and the Hon. Carroll L. Beedy, Congressman from Maine.

FIND MAN DEAD IN BED IN HIS ROOM IN THE BRISTOL HOUSE

Daniel Connley Had Resided At Hotel For Past
Eight Years

DIES OF HEART ATTACK

Friend Called As Usual To Take Him To Work
This Morning

A man was found dead in bed at the Bristol House, here, this morning, and death is attributed to a heart attack.

The victim is Daniel Connley, 63.
Mr. Connley had made his home in Bristol for the past 12 years, and was employed by the Paterson Parchment Paper Company. He was a former resident of Coatesville. For the past eight years he had lived at the Bristol House.

It was the custom of a co-worker to stop for him each morning and take him in his automobile to the place of his employment. This morning when Connley's friend stopped for him, as usual, Connley was not around as was his custom. Samuel Mignoni, proprietor of the Bristol House, was summoned and he went to Connley's room where he found his guest dead in bed.

Deputy coroner, W. Furman Young, was called and the body was removed to the morgue of the H. S. Rue estate.

Eunice McIlvaine Has Party On Her Birthday

A Hallowe'en birthday surprise party was given in honor of Eunice Mc-Ilvaine, daughter of Mr. and Mrs.
Pierre McIlvaine, Cedar street, Saturday evening. Eunice's 12th birthday occurred on Sunday. When Eunice returned home, the guests in costumes were hiding in the living room, and surprised her. Prizes were given for three games played. For pinning the tail on the donkey, prizes were given to Dorothy Stroble and William Bolton. Norma Chambers won a prize for putting the most clothes pins in a bottle, and Matthew Corning guessed the number of chestnuts in a dish.

Those present: Dorothy Stroble,
Norma Chambers, Rose Davis, Mary
Ellen Mulhern, Claire Muffett, Ruth Rothenberg, Eunice McIlvaine; William Bolton, Matthew Corning, Ronald Vasey, Sherwood McIlvaine, Herbert Sherwood.

Firemen Are To Have A Social Time Tonight

A quarterly meeting of the Bristol Consolidated Fire Department will be held tonight in the assembly room of the fire station.

Meeting at eight o'clock there will follow the transaction of routine business affairs. Then a program of entertainment will take place, which will be given by professional talent.

At the conclusion of the entertainment there will be refreshments served in the apparatus room.

All members of the company are invited to be present.

Minster, Swain street.

Attendants were: Joyce Riley,
Louise Atkins, Marie Cherubini, Georgette Minster, Dorothy Stroble, Helen Shire, Carrie Bailey, Lillian Mulholland, Jean Griffith, Anne Louise Pearson, and Doris Shire, Bristol, and Miss Alice Dodson, Upper Darby.

Games and dancing were enjoyed,
and refreshments were served. Joyce Riley entertained with a solo dance, Alice Dodson with tap dancing, and Anne Pearson with piano selections.

Prizes in the games were given to Lillian Mulholland and Anne Pearson.
Joyce Riley received a prize for the fanciest dress, Jean Griffith for the most original, and Carrie Bailey for the most comic.

SELF VALUATION

Without ostentation man should value himself more highly than is his wont. It is one of man's faults that he undervalues himself, lacks confidence in his ability and admits to himself that he "can't." It is possible to know thyself, and for man to achieve something worthwhile in this world he must believe in himself for his full worth.

"Swell-headedness" is applied to persons who affect qualities unpossessed. One can be self-confident without being complacent and presuming. Man may know himself without letting others know he knows himself, that in truth, is the secret of success among men.

The higher a man's valuation of himself, the more his compassion and charity for his fellowmen. There is no consequent condescension in his manner because realizing a value in himself he unconsciously seeks out values in others.

One cannot expect the world to count him as of intrinsic worth if he himself does not recognize that worth. It becomes so much a part of our thought structure and our very personality that it plainly manifests itself in our words and acts. Unostentatious self-confidence is natural expression of personal evaluation. Vain boasting is a cloak to conceal natural weakness and failings. He who brags is painfully aware of his shortcomings; otherwise he would be conscious of nothing to boast about.

Self-confidence is the recognition of shortcomings overcome. Boasting is the recognition of shortcomings to be overcome.

A Treasury statement puts the money now circulating at $44.23 for every man, woman and child. So it is probably useless to ask a child to change a $50 bill.

Sir Mabel's advice to drive sanely compares favorably with many of the eloquent prohibition addresses heard in old time bars.

The first of the foot ball coach's chalk talks to the boys might dwell on the Florida hurricane, to show what is being done elsewhere.

A school to teach women to buy clothes has opened in London. Flying course, for homing pigeons, should shortly be available.

Scientists will fly the upper ether to see if bacteria exists there. Those larger floating objects would be late pork quotations.

Alfred C. Thomas was the leader at the mid-week services in the Methodist Church, Wednesday evening. The Rev.

and Mrs. Francis Thomas and daughter, Carolyn May, spent two days in Easton, with Mrs. Thomas's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Walter Jennings.

The Young People's organization will hold a masquerade dance in St. Andrew's parish house this evening at 8.30. The affair is under the chairmanship of George P. Brown, who selected as his decoration committee, Miss Marion Smith, James P. Satterthwaite, Alice Marie Ross, and Fred Forrest. The refreshments are in charge of Mrs. Joseph Yardley and Miss Marjorie Rembe. Several novelty features have been arranged, with favors for those attending.

The Yardley Fish and Game Association will hold its meeting this evening at 7.30 at Swan Hotel. This is the last meeting before the opening of the gunning season in Pennsylvania, and it is urged that all members be present, as several important matters of business will be taken up.

In the early evening on Sunday, the Yardley Fire Company No. 1, was called to extinguish a brush fire at the Maddox Farm, Oxford Valley Road, near the eight square school house. No damage was done.

Among those from here who attended the Red Cross luncheon and meeting at the Bellevue-Stratford, Philadelphia, were Mrs. George Wright, Mrs. Slager, Mrs. Russell Ivins, Mrs.

William Levett and Mrs. Christopher Johnson.

Miss Doris Wright, of the Northern Hospital, Philadelphia, spent the week-end at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. George Wright.

Visitors of Mr. and Mrs. Lemuel Wilson over Sunday were Mr. and Mrs. Harry Kamp and son, Philadelphia, and Mr. and Mrs. Louis Sines and daughters, Trenton.

Mr. and Mrs. Christopher A. Johnson, Miss Sonia Johnson, and Miss Christine Johnson spent Saturday and Sunday at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Richard D. Bowman, Glenolden.

FALLSINGTON

Mrs. Lydia Lodge, Mrs. Hilda Foster, James P. Doherty and David Lapp, are taking a course at Rutgers University.

David Lapp, a former teacher in Falls Township High School, is now teaching in New Jersey.

Taylor Kirby has been substituting at Falls Township High School, for Bennett Strait.

Mrs. Edward Satterthwaite, of Newtown, underwent an appendix operation at Abington Memorial Hospital, Abington, Saturday night. Mrs. Satterthwaite, formerly Miss Helen Winder, of Fallsington, is reported to be improving.

Samuel Snipes, son of Mr. and Mrs. Edgar Snipes, who is attending school at Westtown, had the misfortune to have his leg broken while playing football. Those from Fallsington who attended the Library meeting held at Southampton were: Louise White Watson, Moon, Mrs. Jane Snipes, Mrs. Louis Carter, Mrs. Emily Coghlan and Mrs. Mrs. Jane E. Bacon, Miss Lily M. LeRoy Wildman.

ATTENTION!!

CITIZENS OF BUCKS COUNTY

The people of Bucks County are having forcibly brought to their attention the sinful, wanton waste and extravagance of the Roosevelt and Earle Administrations, by the importation of Philadelphia's unemployed on road projects in Bucks County, when eight thousand persons are on relief in this County.

Go and see for yourself how your money is being thrown away,—on the road from Furlong to Rushland and the Jacksonville Road near Ivyland and at Tradesville, where the men are brought from Ivyland in trucks, getting on the job from 11 to 11.30 a. m., and quitting at 1 p. m., having lunch in the meanwhile. But do not take any pictures as the "road bosses" will smash your camera.

So many men on the job they get in each other's way

The project will cost $75,000 a mile. Under Republican administration, roads were built for $8,000 a mile.

Why not place some of Bucks County's jobless on this work?

AND IT IS YOUR MONEY BEING SQUANDERED

Tax money collected from you on everything you buy and use every day, is being frittered away through inexperienced and insufficiently supervised workers in numbers so great that they are actually in each other's way.

The work is supervised (?) by foreman brought from Philadelphia,—clerks, former factory workers, mechanics, etc., who get $144.00 a month on these road projects supervising road construction, something they know nothing whatever about.

Wastefulness is not necessary on any job, relief or otherwise.

There is no excuse for this sickening waste of your money. Jobs could have been provided for all of them,—as well as Bucks County's jobless,—on our highways by the expenditure of the money efficiently and not in the guise of giving work to men on relief, simply to build up a powerful Democratic political machine in Philadelphia.

Why should the cost of transportation from Philadelphia every day, estimated at $5,000 a week, be added to the construction costs, when labor can be found right at home?

-- THE ANSWER IS --

The "Kelly for Mayor" button worn by the workers

IT IS NOW EASIER TO UNDERSTAND WHY

The Roosevelt government is operating at a loss of nine million five hundred thousand dollars a day.

The Roosevelt administration has put this country in debt to the amount of thirty billion dollars.

Pennsylvania's share of that debt is $2,500,000,000 and Bucks County's share is $25,000,000.

The Roosevelt administration spent more money in two and a half years than was spent by the Federal Government from the administration of President Washington to that of President Wilson.

WHAT HAS THE ABOVE TO DO WITH THE ELECTION IN BUCKS COUNTY IN NOVEMBER?

--JUST THIS--

THE CANDIDATES ON THE DEMOCRATIC TICKET FOR THE COUNTY OFFICES HAVE ENDORSED THE POLICIES AND PRINCIPLES OF ROOSEVELT AND EARLE!

IF YOU WANT BUCKS COUNTY ADMINISTERED FOR YOUR BENEFIT AT THE LOWEST POSSIBLE COST, AND ITS PUBLIC OFFICES NOT TURNED OVER FOR EXPLOITATION BY THE ACHEY-FLOOD DEMOCRATIC MACHINE UNDER THE ROOSEVELT-EARLE POLICIES.

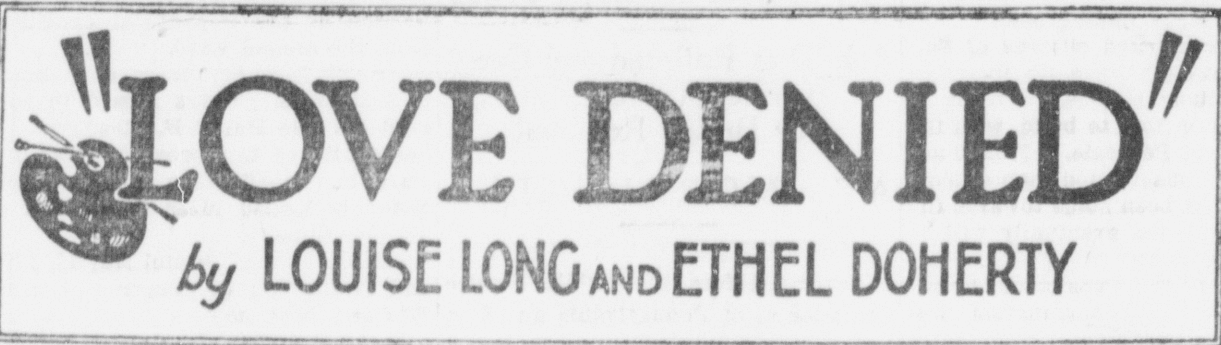

—THEN—

KEEP THE SPENDTHRIFT PARTY OUT OF THE COURT HOUSE

—BY—

VOTING FOR THE CANDIDATES ON THE REPUBLICAN TICKET FOR THE COUNTY OFFICES, WHO ARE PLEDGED FOR AN ECONOMICAL AND EFFICIENT ADMINISTRATION OF THE COUNTY AFFAIRS.

CHAPTER XXIX

It was a golf tournament which took them to New Orleans some time later. Sharlene slipped away, during an afternoon when Kent was not playing, to prowling about by herself in the old French Quarter. He preferred to trail the players over the green.

She left the taxicab on Canal Street and drifted down Chartres on foot into the heart of ancient dreams. The old town drowsed under a warm sun. The sad and pitiful decay of ancient splendor was all about her. . . . Ghosts of people, who had been very rich, very gay, in panniers and red-heeled slippers, in periwigs and velvet knee breeches. People like herself and Kent. Where were they now? What mattered their rushing about in pursuit of pleasure, their parties, their games, and diversions? . . . She drifted into an antique shop and pored over exquisite hand-painted French fans, that once screamed laughing eyes, Spanish combs inlaid with gold, ornaments of loved, dark tresses, earrings of great weight and value, that had swung beside some flowerlike throat. The things they had left behind. . . .

Out in the street again, walking idly down Toulouse, she stopped to admire a fan window. A young man, bareheaded, smoking a pipe, sauntered down the street toward her, towed by an active little wire-haired pup. The young man stopped casually beside Sharlene and regarded the window with the affectionate interest of a proprietor.

"Very nice," he pronounced it, "but have you seen the fan windows in the Claiborne House patio?" Sharlene glanced at him and replied in his own pleasant casual key: "No, I haven't ventured into these patios, except the Arts and Crafts one."

"Then you must come to the Claiborne House—the Art League's there, too. Interested in art?"

"Oh, yes," she said with spontaneous enthusiasm.

The young man smiled with growing eagerness. He could not fail to see that she was a tourist with money to spend. He conducted her first through the Claiborne House flagstoned porte-cochere to the rear garden wall. Then he bade her turn around and look up.

They were very beautiful fan windows, and wild ferns grew in the chinks surrounding them.

Then Sharlene found herself being taken chummily around to various studios in the building. She admired endless colorful paintings which were exhibited to her—art studies of patios, stairways, oyster luggers in the bayou, the old French Market.

The young man turned out to be Peter Hartt.

Several artists followed them when he took Sharlene to his own studio. She admired his work and petted his dog, and felt very happy and at home.

"You'll want to look closely at this," Hartt said as he handed her an unframed canvas. He had painted an iron lace balcony silhouetted in the foreground, and through it one looked down on the dreamy, sun-drenched street.

"Hartt's detail on that grille," volunteered one of the other artists, "reminds me of the Rembrandt-like manner of Stuart Pennington."

"Oh!" exclaimed Sharlene involuntarily.

"Did you see some of his stuff?" The artist glanced at her interestedly.

"Yes, oh, yes," stammered Sharlene in confusion.

"What became of him? He was almost a sensation couple of years ago, but he hasn't done anything since."

Sharlene was silent, her face scarlet. She pretended to be studying the picture in her hands.

"Oh," Peter Hartt said carelessly, "I heard he married a rich wife. Of course, that was the end of him."

Tears blurred Sharlene's eyes suddenly. She was thinking fiercely, "It shall not be the end of him!" Always when she thought of Stuart, it was with the fervent hope that he was working again—and was happy.

"That's what happens," said a lean and hungry painter, "when there's no longer any incentive to make money. A fellow gets fat and lazy."

Sharlene could not bear to hear Stuart maligned for something which was so entirely her own fault. "I—" she said desperately, "I think I'll buy this picture. Please send it to the St. Charles. I'll make out a check. How much?"

"Well," said Hartt with trepidation, but daring because of the tears in her eyes, "I hoped to get three hundred for it—but—"

"Three hundred dollars," Sharlene repeated aloud, as she wrote the check.

She handed it to Hartt, smiled swiftly at the others and hurried out. The artist-salesman was too petrified with the ease and suddenness of the deal to accompany her to the street. He stared stupidly at the door through which she had vanished.

"Who is she?" asked one of the men curiously.

Hartt glanced down at the check. "Sharlene Damerell," he read.

"Damerell? Damerell?" The one who had seen Stuart's work searched his memory. "Any red ink, any?"

"Where's the Dook, anyhow?" . . . "Where's the Dook, anyhow?" . . . "Where the devil is the Dook? He's missing things."

"He had to phone the studio long distance and break the news about that scratched film—"

"Oh!" said Sharlene in an undertone to Kent. "They're a motion picture troupe from Hollywood!"

"Sure enough. They seem to have the devil of a good time, these picture people." Kent spoke half-enviously.

"There's the Dook!" roared the gang.

Sharlene glanced toward the door. "Look! It's Lucien Morrow!"

Lucien came toward the boys at the big table, who were shouting to him to hurry up. Then he saw Sharlene's excited, welcoming face and deflected his course.

"Sharlene! Of all the luck!" "Lucien! This is my husband Mr. Damerell, Mr. Morrow."

Lucien shook hands with Kent, sizing him up with a keen flash of his eyes.

"Won't you join us?" asked Kent. "Thanks. I'd like to—but I'll have to make it right with the boys."

When he came back and sat down at their table, he looked at their plates. "Oysters? Not for mine! Me for the big steak!"

"What are you doing in New Orleans, Lucien?" Sharlene asked.

"Shooting a river boat on the Mississippi."

"Another 'Showboat'?"

"No, Mark Twain story. It's going great!" Lucien's eyes shone with enthusiasm and good feeling.

"You picture fellows," Kent said, smiling, "get such a kick out of your job! You're in the amusement business and you get a lot of amusement out of it."

"Sure. It's a game. We who actually make the pictures get all the fun. It's no picnic for the 'exes' who sit and worry about Wall Street. But for me it's thrilling! I wouldn't do anything else. You see, I started out in the bond business and there was no adventure, no excitement, no romance, and I thought I'd die. But in this business I'm getting younger every day I live."

"It interests me," Kent said thoughtfully, "more than anything else in the line of business. I've thought about it a lot—this and producing plays on Broadway. But this game looks like more real fun. I've about exhausted the possibilities of golf and yachts and fishing."

"You can have all those in pictures," Lucien pointed out, "and a million more things besides. Why don't you throw some of your money into the field? Time is ripe for independents now."

Kent's eyes began to sparkle. "What do you say, Sharlene? Shall we go to Hollywood?"

Sharlene was startled, but she answered gaily: "Whither thou goest and all that!"

Lucien Morrow was looking at her but she avoided his eyes.

Republican Leadership Boon to Sellersville

about $10.00 per annum per light. For four years the business men promptly met their pledges, and at the end of that period the borough took over the system and now bears the full cost. For one half mile in the business section there are staggered 23 "white way" lamps mounted on attractive steel standards and installed with 500 watt bulbs. Sixty lights are afforded the residential section of 50 watt power.

The new filter plant which supplies pure water to 525 dwellings is another feature of the service rendered Sellersville under Republican administration. The people of Sellersville are justly proud of their filter plant. It was built at a total cost of $66,500 and has a capacity of 350,000 gallons of filtered water a day. The water is metered to the consumers at a cost of $8.00 per 2,000 cubic feet with a charge of $1.00 for every additional thousand feet. The filter plant is of the quick-sand type.

Within the last few years the entire borough has been sewered. The mains are owned by the borough but the disposal plant is privately owned. It is expected eventually that the borough will build its own disposal plant. The borough has a very efficient volunteer fire department with up-to-date apparatus capable of pumping 775 gallons of water a minute.

Another feature of Sellersville's community life and one that reflects the cultural development of its people is the Sellersville Symphony Orchestra. This organization comprises 40 musicians not only residents of the borough, but also residents of a number of the nearby boroughs and townships. It was largely organized through the enthusiasm and persistence of Theodore Pade, well known as a violinist.

Sellersville not only is an efficiently managed community but apparently has "progress" for its watchword. Under honest, painstaking and alert Republican administrations many civic improvements have been accomplished without burdening the people with taxes. Not so large as far as population goes, but big and earnest in the

EIGHT BOUTS END WITH COMBATANTS SPRAWLED ON CANVAS—TWO DECISIONS

By T. M. Juno

Amateur boxing fans of this vicinity who like knockouts as their favorite dish were treated to more than such last night in the Italian Mutual Aid Hall, Wood street and Lincoln avenue, in the amateur show sponsored by the St. Ann's Athletic Association and sanctioned by the Middle Atlantic district of the A. A. U.

Eight of the bouts ended with one of the fighters sprawled on the canvas. Two of the bouts went to decisions with both fighters whamming away at each other in both tilts. An extra bout given to the fans as a treat was a failure when the Middle Atlantic champion, George Morrow, pulled his punches and carried his opponent three rounds.

Five of the youngsters on the card last night represented the St. Ann's Athletic Association. Of the quintet, three were victorious via knockouts and one lost a decision while the other suffered a kayo.

The two upcoming Bristolians, Tony Puccio and Vince Della, again registered knockout wins. Puccio finished his opponent in the second round after flooring him twice in the first and three times before the fatal punch. Della bowled over Louis Spino, Arena, with a volley of body punches after fifty seconds of the second round. Although these youngsters were brilliant, another simon pure by the name of William Vanucci, discovered by Trainer Johnny Straffe, exhibited a punch packed with dynamite. He knocked out his adversary, Joseph O'Neill, in the second round.

It was Della's second consecutive knockout victory. In the last fight, he sent Earl Scoggins to the canvas in the first session. Previous to these fights, he had been beaten twice. Puccio lost the first bout he participated in and since then has won a fight on decision and two by kayoes.

Della took things rather easy in the first round last night, measuring off his opponent and taking left jabs on the chin. Twice doing it the latter part of the round, Della's southpaw hook caught Spino on the chin and shook him. Spino carried the first round. In the second session, the Arena mittman made the mistake of trying to mix it up with the Bristolian. He left his body wide open and it was a perfect target for that mule-kick punch of Della. Three hard blows followed by two more while he was staggering sent Spino to the floor, rolling over on his side. Referee Harpt did not even have to toll ten, knowing the Philadelphia was out cold.

The smiling baker-boy, Tony Puccio, had as his opponent, Salvatore Manzo, of the Mason A. C. Two many one-two's weakened Manzo in the initial canto. The Bristol youth would land that fast one-two and dance away, not giving the Quaker City fighter a chance. On the ropes, a fast short hook staggered Manzo. He managed to squeeze out of the tight spot but was caught on the button with another right and he went down. He arose and landed a jab but Puccio was too fast and sent him to the canvas again. He lasted the first round but in the second after being down three times, the referee stopped the bout.

The gentleman of the evening who proved he could take it was Joseph O'Neill who fought William Vanucci. Vanucci hit O'Neill with everything except the ring posts and water buckets in the first round and every punch had each ounce of the 152 pounds of Vanucci behind it but O'Neill weathered the storm. However, it was only a matter of time for in the second session, Vanucci started all over again and three hard blows to the West Siders' head ended the bout with O'Neill being counted out.

The bouts opened with a fast and furious fight between Thomas Brown, Shackamaxon, and Franklin Schneider, East Side. Both youngsters were in there swinging from the start and never let up until the bell sounded at the end of the rounds. A last frame rally by the Shackamaxon youth gave him a close decision. The fans voiced their approval of the bout by giving both fighters a tremendous ovation as they left the arena.

John Andrews, colored, Wharton A. C., could not withhold the hard punches given to him on the jaw by William Hussie, a wide-open fighter from the Chelton Club. Andrews went to the canvas early in the bout and was down for six. He tried again but his efforts went for naught for Hussie landed but two rights and the bout was over.

A long jab by lanky Joseph Shallcross, East Side, gave him a tremendous advantage over Thomas Baynard, representing St. Ann's. Shallcross stopped all attempts of the St. Ann's fighter to rush him by just using that jab continually, jerking back the Purple and Gold glove's head. When Shallcross began to use his right to follow those jabs, the St. Ann's man began to wobble and to save him from further punishment, the sponge was tossed into the ring.

Whipping away with a two-fisted attack from the opening gong, James Maxwell, East Side, made short work of Joseph Dorian, Arena, finishing him with a right to the jaw after one minute and fifty seconds of the second round. Dorian landed but one telling blow during the bout. He uppercuted the colored youth before the bell in the first.

It took but two minutes and forty seconds for Harry Graver, East Side, to put the finishing touches to Frank Rice, colored, of the Arena team. The carrot-topped youth from the East Side stung Rice from the start and ended the fight with a hard right to the heart after ducking away from the ropes.

Another colored youngster, William Neal, Wharton, was no match for the heavy punches of Willie Maher, West Side. Maher's left hook followed by his over-handed right weakened the Wharton boy in the first and had him down for nine. The colored boy was still groggy when the second started. A left hook to the stomach and then a right to the jaw put the Neal boy on the floor and out cold.

Even though he was floored twice, John Giordano, Seymour, carried the decision in his fight with Frank Frascella, St. Ann's. Frascella dropped Giordano in the second and final rounds, each time without a count. Frascella, himself, went down after a wild exchange in the second. Giordano was the aggressor throughout the fight and this earned him the victory.

George Morrow, 1935 Middle Atlantic champion of the 135 lb. class, made a poor impression on the crowd when he failed to land any solid blows on Albert Pierce, Wharton. The champ passed up many opportunities to hit the colored boy, choosing to just tap him lightly. Morrow took the decision.

The officials of the bouts were: Referee, Walter Harpt; timer, Tommy Hanlon; judges, Ford Lilly and William Montgomery; physician, Dr. Joseph Levy; inspector, Joe Brown; announcer, Patsey Moffo.

JAY-VEES SCORE VICTORY OVER TRENTON, 7 TO 6

By Jack Orr

That precious extra point gained by the Bristol High School Jayvees was the margin of victory yesterday. The Hares defeated a band of Trenton gridders by the count of 7-6.

Trailing 6-0 at the half, the Cardinal and Gray came out fighting in the second half and proceeded to score. After holding the Red and Black on the mid-field stripe, the Coles-coached boys started their victory march.

With Tony Orazi and Dannie DiMidio bearing the brunt of the attack, the Hares brought the play up to the twenty-four yard marker. Then on a perfectly executed reverse Orazi to Shorty Phillips, the visitors scored.

With the game hanging in the balance, Orazi elected to attempt another bit of deception in preference to kicking. His strategy worked as DiMidio on a fake kick, smashed the line for that ever-important conversion.

The homesters counted in the first period. On a drive from the forty-yard line of Trenton eleven brought it to the Bristol one-yard line, where Benny Paschwitz counted. Coleman's attempt at conversion by drop-kick was no good.

The Red and Black's passing attack was the main feature of their offense. Eight times they went to the air and seven of them were completed, five for first downs. The Trentonians made seven first downs to the Bunnies' six.

EDDINGTON TROJANS AND SPARTANS END 0 TO 0

EDDINGTON, Oct. 29—The Eddington Trojans again showed their power by battling the strong North Philadelphia Spartan team to a standstill, here, Sunday afternoon. The whole team showed its power and as a result only a few held the spotlight. "Pat" Magee showed his worth as he has done many times before. "Jeff" Jeffries' smart playing earns him honorable mention. Bud Breslin again showed he could run a ball by getting off a few long ones.

Haile Selassie that Il Duce now is unable to turn back on his African venture and the Emperor today is making every preparation for a prolonged, bloody devastating conflict.

Ethiopia is preparing to make her big advance although the Emperor has not given up the faint hope that the British will step in at the last moment. He is doing everything possible to defend his realm alone. He is preparing for a fight which may run into years.

Opinion remains unchanged here that nothing less than military measures will halt the Italian advance. The Italian advance at Makale was reported to be meeting no resistance as the Emperor was believed not ready to engage in battle at this time. Large Ethiopian forces were reported retiring before the Italians and preparations for military evacuation of Makale were reported under way.
